Tyne and Wear Transfare Tickets

If your journey requires changing between a bus and the Metro or Ferry, then the Transfare is the perfect ticket for you!

Transfares allow you to buy just one ticket at the start of your journey, and you can then use this ticket for one interchange between modes (e.g bus to metro, metro to bus, metro to ferry, ferry to metro, bus to ferry, or ferry to bus. You must start the second part of your journey within 90 minutes of buying your ticket. The bus element of the journey does not necessarily have be with Stagecoach, it can be with other operators too.

How do I work out the number of zones I'm travelling in?

The map above shows Tyne and Wear divided into three zones - yellow, green and grey.

* If your journey is entirely within just one zone - you only need a "1 Zone Transfare".
* If your journey is entirely within two zones - you need a "2 Zone Transfare".
* If you are travelling across all zones - then you need an "All Zone Transfare"

For example, if you're travelling from Pelaw Metro station to Washington, you would need a 2 Zone Transfare, as you're travelling through the green and light blue zones. (Child Transfares allow travel within al three zones).

What if I start my journey on a zone boundary?

Bus stops and Metro stations on boundaries are in both zones.
For example, if you travel from Felling to Windy Nook via Heworth your whole journey is in the green zone so you need a "1 Zone Transfare". Similarly if you travel from Felling to the Freeman Hospital (changing to the bus at Monument) your journey is entirely in the yellow zone so you need a "1 Zone Transfare".

How do I buy one on Metro?

Simply choose either T1, T2 or T3 on the Metro ticket machine depending on how many zones you'll be travelling in, and pay. (On Metro, "T3" means all zones)

How do I buy one on the bus or the Shields Ferry?

Just tell your bus driver or Ferry operator where you are going and they will work out what ticket you need.

Is travel on Northern Rail included?

Yes, Transfares bought on Metro or bus or Ferry will be accepted on Northern Rail services between Sunderland and the MetroCentre.
